

CATHERINE SUN

PARTNER

CSUN@FOLEY.COM

SUITE 2201, JIN MAO TOWER
88 CENTURY BOULEVARD
SHANGHAI, 200121
PHONE: 86 21 6100 8900

Catherine Sun is the managing partner of the Shanghai Office of Foley & Lardner LLP and chair of the firm's Asia Practice. Ms. Sun is a member of the firm's Intellectual Property Litigation and International Practices is also a member of the firm's Life Sciences, Entertainment & Media and Automotive Industry Teams. She works with the firm's clients on IP strategy, counseling and litigation, cross border M&A related IP, international technology transfer, licensing and portfolio management.

For the past seventeen years, Ms. Sun has practiced in U.S., Hong Kong and Mainland China. Prior to joining Foley, she was with the Shanghai office of an international law firm, where she was head of the China IP Practice. Ms. Sun spent seven years practicing law in the United States as an attorney in the Washington, D.C. and northern Virginia offices of a major national law firm, before returning first to Hong Kong and then to Shanghai to practice intellectual property law in 2002. In the early 1990s, Ms. Sun practiced intellectual property law in Beijing.

While in the United States, Ms. Sun also was an in-house attorney for a high-technology company working on the trans-Pacific interface and served as a student law clerk to the Hon. Randall R. Rader of the United States Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit. She is the author of numerous publications on IP-related transactions in China, and has lectured widely and participated in conferences on intellectual property law both in the United States and Asia.

Ms. Sun received her LL.M. degree from the George Washington University Law School and earned her LL.B. degree from Peking University, with honors.

Recent Publications:

- "Negotiating Business Transactions in China," Inside the Minds: Best Practices for International Business Transactions in China, Thomson Reuters/Aspatore publication March 2009
- "Keeping Olympic-related Rights on Track," World Trademark Review (May/June 2008)
- "Beat the First Filing Blues in China," Managing Intellectual Property (May 2008)
- "You Can Protect IP in China-Know the People. Know the law. Decide to act," Legal Times (October 15, 2007)
- "Avoid and Mitigate Risks of Mergers and Acquisitions by Foreign Capital (in Chinese)," China Invention & Patent (First Issue 2007)
- "How IP is Transacted in China Related Mergers and Acquisitions," Managing Intellectual Property (Dec.-Jan.-Feb. 2006)
- China chapter of Intellectual Property in Asia (a book published and revised by LexisNexis in Dec. 2005)
- "New Franchising Measures in China," Asia Law (April 2005)
- "The Inside View on Enforcement in China," Managing Intellectual Property (July 2004)
- China Intellectual Property for Foreign Business (a book published by LexisNexis in Spring 2004)
- "Technology Import and Export in Post-WTO China," American Bar Association Newsletter (Volume 2, No. 4, Summer 2003)
- "How Chinese Companies Litigate IP Cases in the United States, (in Chinese)" State Intellectual Property Office News (May 20, 2003, May 28, 2003 and June 6, 2003)
- "Rules of Engagement for IP Litigation," Managing Intellectual Property (May 2003)
- "Patent Litigation Takes Dramatic Step Forward," Managing Intellectual Property (January 2003)

JON DUDAS

PARTNER

JDUDAS@FOLEY.COM

3000 K STREET N.W. SUITE 600
WASHINGTON, DC 20007-5109
202.945.6107

Jon Dudas is a partner with Foley & Lardner LLP, where he works with the IP Litigation and Government & Public Policy Practices.

Mr. Dudas joined Foley as former Under Secretary of Commerce for Intellectual Property and Director of the United States Patent and Trademark Office. In this role, Mr. Dudas advised the president of the United States, the secretary of commerce, and the administration about intellectual property matters and administered the laws of granting patents and trademarks and led the $2 billion agency and its more than 9,000 employees. As head of the world's leading intellectual property (IP) office, Mr. Dudas also developed and articulated administration positions on patent, copyright, and trademark issues, both domestic and foreign.

As the nation's top IP official, Mr. Dudas personally spearheaded an unprecedented number of patent cooperation and development missions with Brazil, China, Europe, India, Japan, Korea, Mexico and several other countries to improve IP systems globally and help innovators establish and enforce IP rights throughout the world.

Mr. Dudas was nominated by President George W. Bush in March 2004 and confirmed by the U.S. Senate in July 2004. He previously served as acting under secretary and director, and deputy under secretary and deputy director from 2002 to 2004.

Mr. Dudas also served six years as counsel to the U.S. House Judiciary Subcommittee on Courts and Intellectual Property, and staff director and deputy general counsel for the House Judiciary Committee. He guided enactment of major patent, trademark, and copyright policy, including the 1999 American Inventors Protection Act and the Digital Millennium Copyright Act. In addition, he was instrumental in the passage of the 1996 Trademark Anti-

Counterfeiting Consumer Protection Act, a law making it more difficult for seized counterfeit merchandise to re-enter the consumer marketplace.

Before his employment with the House of Representatives, Mr. Dudas practiced law in Chicago, focusing his practice on litigation with an emphasis on copyright and trademark issues.

Mr. Dudas obtained his Bachelor of Science in finance, summa cum laude, from the University of Illinois and his law degree from the University of Chicago, with honors. He is a member of the Illinois State Bar and the Bar of the United States District Court for the Northern District of Illinois.

Mr. Dudas is admitted in Illinois only. His practice is limited to matters before federal courts and agencies.

J. BRUCE SCHELKOPF

CUMMINS INC.
CHIEF PATENT & I.P. COUNSEL

J.BRUCE.SCHELKOPF@CUMMINS.COM

ONE AMERICAN SQUARE, SUITE 1800
INDIANAPOLIS, IN 46282
317.610.2462

J. Bruce Schelkopf is the Chief Patents and Intellectual Property Counsel for Cummins Inc., a $14B world leader in the manufacture and distribution of diesel engines, filtration systems, electric power-generation systems, turbochargers and power-related products. Bruce is also CEO of Cummins Intellectual Properties, Inc., the intellectual property company of Cummins Inc. Bruce is responsible for the global strategy, development, counsel, and management of all aspects of the company's intellectual property assets, brand matters, counterfeit issues, and IP litigation, as well as the preparation, filing, prosecution, maintenance, and licensing of all worldwide intellectual property assets and matters.

Bruce frequently writes on and speaks at various international and national forums about subjects involving Strategy and IP, Global Piracy, IP Enforcement/Anti-Counterfeit Programs, Complex IP Litigation Issues, Corporate/International Best Legal & Leadership Practices, and varied other issues.

Bruce is also an Adjunct Professor at the Indiana University – Purdue University Law School (IUPUI) Law School in Indianapolis, and has served as a Visiting Professor with various other universities in Pennsylvania and North Carolina, instructing numerous graduate-level courses in the associated engineering, law, and business schools.

Bruce has considerable experience with Fortune 200 companies (such as IBM, GE and Lockheed Martin) and private firms/companies, where he has had successes in various leadership roles across engineering, business, general management, and legal functions. Prior to joining Cummins, Bruce was the Senior IP Counsel with International Business Machines (IBM) for their personal computer, printer, and retail services businesses.

Bruce is a graduate of the Stanford Executive Management Program at the Stanford Graduate School of Business. He holds a J.D. degree from Rutgers University. He also has a M.S. degree in Systems Engineering (Computer Engr.), a B.S. degree in Engineering Science (Elect/Mech), and a B.S. degree in Chemical Engineering, all from Pennsylvania State University. Bruce also attended the University of Manchester (UMIST and Owens) in England, and is also a graduate of the GE Crotonville curriculum (eq. Corp. MBA) as well as various Fortune company Leadership Programs including GE's Edison Engineering Program, Marketing Management Program, Technical Sales Program, and the Lockheed Program Managers Program.

Bruce is a member of ACPC as well as other intellectual property associations, and is admitted before the Pennsylvania and New Jersey, the United States Patent Office, Canadian Intellectual Property Office, United States Court of International Trade, as well as various federal and circuit courts.

KEN DUCK

SENIOR COUNSEL

KDUCK@FOLEY.COM

ONE DETROIT CENTER 500
WOODWARD AVENUE SUITE 2700
DETROIT, MI 48226-3489
313. 234.7121

Ken Duck is senior counsel with Foley & Lardner and a member of the Transactional & Securities and International Practices and the firm's Life Sciences and Automotive Industry Teams. Mr. Duck serves as chair of the China and Japan Committees for the firm's International Practice.

Mr. Duck has extensive experience counseling clients on their Asia-Pacific investment strategies with particular emphasis in support of investments in China, Japan, India, Hong Kong, Taiwan, Korea and various offshore jurisdictions.

Mr. Duck frequently assists clients in establishing operations and doing business in China. He has extensive experience with establishing operations and structuring investments, joint ventures, mergers and acquisitions, counseling on labor law issues, licensing and sales representative agreements and protection of intellectual property in China. He also advises Chinese companies on direct investments in the United States. He has lived and worked in China for more than two years in total.

Mr. Duck also regularly advises clients on doing business in Japan and assists Japanese companies doing business in the United States and China. He has advised on mergers and acquisitions in Japan and direct investments into China by Japanese companies. He has lived and worked in Japan for more than three years in total.

In addition, Mr. Duck advises on mergers and acquisitions, private equity financing and intellectual property licensing for a wide-range of closely held and public companies in the United States.

Mr. Duck is a graduate of Fordham University of Law (J.D., 1997) and the University of Vermont (B.A., 1991). He was the notes and articles editor for the Fordham International Law Journal from 1996-1997. Prior to graduation from law school, Mr. Duck worked at the Oh-Ebashi Law Office in Osaka, Japan where he drafted and translated documents for cross-border transactions, including joint ventures in China and Japan.

Mr. Duck reads and speaks Mandarin Chinese and Japanese.

He is a member of the New York Bar, the Michigan Bar, the Japan America Society, the Japan Business Society of Detroit, the Detroit Chinese Business Association, the China Sub-Committee of the US Committee on International Business, the China Strategy Council of the Original Equipment Suppliers Association, and the International Section of the American Bar Association. He also serves as chair of the Emerging Nations Committee of the Michigan State Bar Association's International Law Section.

Mr. Duck is a frequent speaker in the US, China and Japan on the Chinese auto industry, the Chinese legal and regulatory environment, investment strategies for China, the US and Japan, and Chinese labor law.

Recent publications include:

- "China's Policy-Driven Push to Innovate and Drive Its Auto Industry Green," (with Steven H. Hilfinger) China Law & Practice, March 2008
- "A Roadmap to China's New M&A Regulations," Michigan International Lawyer, Fall 2007

JOSH TIMBERLAKE

SENIOR MANAGER

JTIMBERLAKE@DELOITTE.COM

DELOITTE CONSULTING
STRATEGY & OPERATIONS
TEL. +1.312.486.3067

Mr. Timberlake is a Chicago-based Senior Manager in Deloitte Consulting's Global Expansion Optimization (GEO) practice. He has over 11 years of experience in advising Fortune 500 companies on their Global facility and location strategy decisions. Specialties include data collection and interpretation (primarily using Geographic Information Systems and Deloitte Consulting proprietary databases), labor market analysis, site/facility inspections, operating costs/conditions analysis, business risk assessment, and real estate/incentives negotiations. His experience spans a broad range of corporate functions including manufacturing, distribution, headquarters, back office, and R&D.

Mr. Timberlake has significant on the ground experience conducting feasibility analysis in many established and emerging markets, including Canada, China, Costa Rica, India, Mexico, Malaysia, Micronesia, Palau, Philippines, United Kingdom, and throughout the United States. He has conducted detailed labor market analysis (including investigations of labor availability, costs, quality, sustainability, and other key factors) throughout most of these markets.

Mr. Timberlake has helped several companies deploy manufacturing operations in China. He has conducted over a dozen field validation / negotiation trips throughout many of China's leading industrial cities on behalf of companies in the medical device, apparel, consumer products and other sectors. He recently co-authored an article titled "China: Still Manufacturing's Shining Star?" for publication in the July 2009 issue of Deloitte Review.

Education

Macalester College, BA, Economics and Geography

SARAH WINTERS

INTERNATIONAL TAX DIRECTOR

SWINTERS@DELOITTE.COM

DELOITTE TAX LLP
312.486.3305

Sarah Winters is a tax Director in the Chicago office of Deloitte Tax LLP with more than 14 years of experience in public accounting. Sarah is a member of the International Tax service line and leads the Midwest China Services Group and the Chicago office International Tax Mergers & Acquisitions activities.

Sarah's engagement experience includes client service on numerous publicly and privately held multinational companies, global private equity funds and financial service institutions. Sarah has provided significant business advisory consultation to clients regarding international tax compliance preparation and review services as well as international planning. Her planning experience includes transactional structuring involving cross-border transactions, financing, repatriation and liquidity planning in addition to mergers and acquisitions with a focus on expansion in China.

Her industry experience is broad including both consumer and industrial manufacturing, financial services, internet based and executive search firm clients.

Sarah is the author of "Globalization and Due Diligence" which appeared in the World Trade publication. Sarah graduated from Augustana College with honors, has a J.D. from Loyola University School of Law and an L.L.M. in Taxation from DePaul University Law School. She is a certified public accountant, a licensed attorney and a member of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants.