

DAVID G. CURRAN

617.455.7667
DAVIDCURRAN@ATT.NET

Dave has spent his career as a business leader and senior legal officer at the intersection of business, law, and technology. He is Senior Counsel and Chief Market Development Officer for Brightleaf Corporation, a venture capital-backed technology business focused on data and content management that streamlines outdated business processes for legal, investment banking, and other professionals. Dave has led three founder-based technology businesses undergoing radical transformations — including Integrity Interactive Corporation (i2c.com), a private equity-backed technology compliance business; DCI, Inc., a SaaS compliance and marketing services subsidiary of Havas, the global communications and media giant; and Vertis DPS, a digital content and data management business.

Prior to his business leadership positions, Dave held chief legal and compliance positions with Big Flower Holdings, Inc./Vertis, Inc., Campbell Soup Company, and Reader's Digest. He began his career as an attorney with Satterlee Stephens Burke & Burke in New York City. Satterlee is a boutique firm concentrating on intellectual property, litigation, media law, and corporate transactions.

Dave has been involved in hundreds of major transactions around the world, including $1 billion+ acquisitions, public spin-offs, IPOs, joint ventures, and strategic alliances.

Dave currently serves as a Senior Strategic Advisor to several companies, including Greenhill Capital Partners, a New York-based private equity firm looking to buy and build a significant foothold in the ethics and compliance space; Vantage Partners, a Boston-based professional services firm that grew out of the Harvard Negotiation Program; and Plus One Health Management, Inc., a data-driven health and fitness business.

Dave is very active in the entrepreneur community and serves as adviser and mentor to early stage businesses through MIT's Venture Mentoring Service and Boston University's Kindle program. He is a frequent industry speaker and writer and has developed innovative e-learning and Web-based programs.

Dave received a B.A. with highest honors from the State University of New York at Stony Brook, and a J.D. from the Boston University School of Law.