Overview of Protocol

- Review of Self-Referral Prohibition
- Basis for Protocol in PPACA
- To whom and when disclosure should be made
- What should be included in the disclosure
- What CMS does with the information included in a disclosure
- Basis for settlement discussions

Stark Self-Referral Prohibition, 42 U.S.C. § 1395nn

- A physician may not refer:
  - Medicare or Medicaid patients
  - For designated health services (“DHS”)
  - To an entity with which the physician or an immediate family member has
  - A “financial relationship”
  - With exceptions that protect certain compensation arrangements and ownership interests

©2010 Foley & Lardner LLP

08.0013

Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (“PPACA”) § 6409

- Required HHS, in cooperation with OIG, to develop a self-referral disclosure protocol no later than six months after enactment
- Authorizes reduction in amount providers would have to pay, in exchange for having self-disclosed
- Requires HHS to issue a report to Congress no later than 18 months after establishment of the protocol reporting on its implementation and the amounts collected

©2010 Foley & Lardner LLP

08.0013

Until now...

- Historically, the OIG's self-disclosure protocol was available for disclosing a Stark violation
- In a March 24, 2009 Open Letter to Health Care Providers, OIG announced it would no longer accept Stark-related self-disclosure protocol submissions unless they also included Anti-Kickback Statute violations

©2010 Foley & Lardner LLP

08 5513

Going forward...

- On September 23, 2010, CMS issued the Self-Referral Disclosure Protocol ("SRDP")
- CMS acknowledged that it has borrowed heavily from OIG Self Disclosure Protocol
- Providers and suppliers may self-disclose violations of the Stark self-referral prohibition and potentially benefit from reduced penalties
- An ongoing government inquiry (investigations, audits, routine oversight) does not automatically preclude disclosure via the SRDP, so long as the disclosure is made in good faith

©2010 Foley & Lardner LLP

08 5513

To Whom Disclosure Should Be Made

- Providers and suppliers wishing to self-disclose should use CMS's SRDP for conduct that involves only Stark law violations.
- Violations that raise Stark law violations and violations of other federal criminal, civil, and administrative laws (e.g., the Anti-Kickback Statute) should be disclosed using the OIG's Self-Disclosure Protocol.

©2010 Foley & Lardner LLP

08.0013

To Whom Disclosure Should Be Made (cont.)

- “CMS may conclude that the disclosed matter warrants a referral to law enforcement for consideration under its civil and/or criminal authorities...Accordingly, the disclosing party's initial decision of where to refer a matter...should be made carefully.”

©2010 Foley & Lardner LLP

08.0013

When a Disclosure Should Be Made

- An SRDP submission suspends that obligation until a settlement is entered (or the provider/supplier withdraws or is removed from the SRDP).
- Initial submission also tolls reopening rules (such that if provider is removed, greater look back period applies).
- “It is imperative for disclosing parties to disclose matters in a timely fashion once identified.”

©2010 Foley & Lardner LLP

08.0013

What Should Be in the Disclosure

- Detailed identifying information regarding the disclosing party and other entities implicated
- Description of the matter being disclosed
- Legal analysis of why a Stark violation may have occurred
- Circumstances of discovery and corrective measures taken

©2010 Foley & Lardner LLP

08.0013

What Should Be in the Disclosure (cont.)

- Whether the party has knowledge that the matter is under investigation by a government agency or contractor
- A financial analysis of amount of “tainted” reimbursement received
- Certification

©2010 Foley & Lardner LLP

08 0013

How a Disclosure Should Be Made

- Must be submitted electronically to 1877SRDP@cms.hhs.gov
- Also submit an original and copy by mail
- May not be faxed
- CMS will generate a response email immediately, acknowledging receipt of the submission

©2010 Foley & Lardner LLP

08 0013

Then what?

- CMS reviews the disclosure and determines whether to accept or reject the disclosure
- CMS begins verification of disclosure information; may ask for additional documentation, financial statements
  - Matters outside the scope of the disclosure that CMS discovers may be treated as new matters for investigation
- CMS may refer the disclosure to other law enforcement authorities
- Settlement negotiations begin...

©2010 Foley & Lardner LLP

08 5513

Settlement Payments

- Congress gave HHS the authority to reduce the amount due pursuant to an SRDP, and specified that it should consider:
  - Nature and extent of improper or illegal practice;
  - Timeliness of self-disclosure; and
  - Other factors.
- CMS determined that it also would consider:
  - Litigation Risk associated with the matter disclosed;
  - Cooperation in providing additional information related to the disclosure; and
  - Financial position of the disclosing party.

©2010 Foley & Lardner LLP

08 5513

Settlement Payments (cont.)

- CMS made clear that it may consider all of the factors, but it “has no obligation to reduce any amounts due and owing.”
- Under the OIG Self-Disclosure Protocol, approach usually has been to settle for a multiplier of the financial benefit.
- Uncertainty about CMS’s approach for some providers/suppliers may be a factor in determining whether or not to disclose through the SRDP.

II. Case Studies

08 0013

SRDP – Case Studies

- Three Central Questions
  - Identifying A Stark Violation
    - Investigate facts, analyze potential Stark exceptions
  - When Is the Violation “Identified”
    - Deadline for reporting and returning overpayment is 60 days after date it is “identified” (PPACA 6402(d))
    - Time is of the essence
  - How to Disclose
    - If disclosure is necessary, to which agency?
      - MAC, CMS, OIG, DOJ?

©2010 Foley & Lardner LLP

08.0013

Case Study 1

- Medical Office Lease
  - Facts:
    - Carefree Medical Group, a substantial admitter, leases space from Careless Hospital System
    - Signed written lease, ten year term, fair market value rent w/CPI escalator
    - After six months, Carefree begins to miss some rent payments
    - Careless asks about late payment, Carefree pays back-rent

©2010 Foley & Lardner LLP

08.0013

Case Study 1 (cont.)

- Facts (cont.)
  - Pattern continues, Carefree falls further into arrears
  - By Year 2, Carefree is $100,000 in arrears (including penalties and interest)
  - Careless has requested payment in letters, emails, but takes no legal action
  - Over the 2 year period, “Stark-tainted” collections of Careless roughly $10,000,000

©2010 Foley & Lardner LLP

08.0013

Case Study 1 – Stark Violation?

- Careless requests legal analysis
- Substantial nonpayment of rent renders arrangement non-fair market value
- However, actual lessor (and building owner) is a corporate affiliate of Careless System – not a Stark “entity”

©2010 Foley & Lardner LLP

08.0013

Case Study 1 – Stark Violation? (cont.)

- Stark indirect compensation arrangement analysis:
  - Unbroken chain of financial relationships
  - Does the compensation vary with or take into account, the volume or value of referrals by Carefree to Careless? (see 42 CFR § 411.354(c)(2))
  - Rent amount does not (fixed, fair market value)
  - However, internal investigation concludes that although Careless initially was simply living up to name, it likely tolerated ongoing nonpayment of rent so as to not jeopardize Carefree’s referrals

©2010 Foley & Lardner LLP

08.0013

Case Study 1 – When Was Violation “Identified?”

- Extremely difficult question.
  - When did rent nonpayment actually even become a Stark violation?
  - Although Stark is not intent-based, question of when the compensation relationship began to reflect referrals is intent-based.
  - Commercial (non-healthcare related) landlord would not necessarily evict at outset.
  - Identification of Stark violation clearly requires significant factual investigation and legal analysis.
  - 60 days from what?

©2010 Foley & Lardner LLP

08.0013

Case Study 1 – Agency for Disclosure?

- If situation resulted purely from carelessness, would be Stark violation alone.
- Disclosure to MAC means full repayment of all “Stark-tainted” revenue. Up to $10,000,000, depending on when violation is deemed to have begun.
- CMS – will it negotiate down from the $10,000,000 in tainted revenues, or base negotiations on multiple of $100,000 of remuneration? Difference is a factor of 100.

©2010 Foley & Lardner LLP

08.0013

- Early indications are that CMS will look to the amount of tainted revenues.
- Hope that CMS will become more flexible as SRDP process evolves. Who wants to go first?
- CMS may also refer matter to OIG/DOJ for Anti-Kickback Statute, FCA investigation.
- If CMS refers, will it demand Stark damages in addition to bringing in other agencies?

©2010 Foley & Lardner LLP

Case Study 1 – Agency for Disclosure? (cont.)

- Colorable Anti-Kickback Statute Violation?
  - Arguably, almost by definition, if toleration of nonpayment reflected referrals.
  - If no reflection of referrals, then no Stark violation
  - Suggests disclosure to OIG (or, possibly, DOJ).
  - Per Open Letter, OIG will likely negotiate based on multiple of $100,000 in remuneration.

©2010 Foley & Lardner LLP

- Given uncertainty of how CMS will negotiate, facts suggest OIG a better venue.
- Forum Shopping?
- In close cases, do parties have an incentive to “manufacture” colorable intent?
- Will OIG release provide immunity from CMS seeking to impose Stark damages?
- Will OIG routinely share Stark disclosure with CMS?

©2010 Foley & Lardner LLP

08.0013

Case Study 1 – Agency for Disclosure? (cont.)

■ DOJ?

- Parties have disclosed and settled with local U.S. Attorney’s Office (USAO) in past.
- Although DOJ has discretion in settling, not bound in any way by OIG’s Open Letter.
- DOJ may insist on bringing in OIG for approval.
- Might DOJ insist on CMS’s sign-off as well?
- Therefore, results are unpredictable.

©2010 Foley & Lardner LLP

08 5513

Case Study 1 – Risks of Non-Disclosure

■ Whistleblowers

- Disgruntled employees of either hospital or physician, others in community who may be aware of situation

■ Independent Enforcement Action by Governmental Agency

- OIG/DOJ initiate its own investigation, possibly based on a complaint
- Per SRDP, would not preclude self-disclosure to CMS at this point, but government may be less inclined to be lenient if parties wait
- OIG or DOJ might inadvertently discover in course of other, unrelated investigation

©2010 Foley & Lardner LLP

08 5513

Case Study 2 – No Formal Written Agreement

■ Briefly:

- Hospital - Medical Director arrangement, fair market value appraisal, draft agreement specifying services, term and termination, other material issues, but no signatures
- Medical Director submits signed time sheets, specifying services and time performed, per draft agreement
- Hospital signs checks with remittance advice, referencing services performed

©2010 Foley & Lardner LLP

08.0013

Case Study 2 (cont.)

- Most Stark exceptions require a signed, written agreement
- Integration argument – reference to state law statute of frauds
- Combining separate writings to form a sufficient signed written agreement.
- Untested argument

©2010 Foley & Lardner LLP

08.0013

- Strength of argument is highly fact-specific. Facts here are very appealing
- No clear answer, but in light of apparent lack of flexibility in the SRDP, providers will want to explore all possible defenses before concluding disclosure is mandated

III. Open Questions

©2010 Foley & Lardner LLP • Attorney Advertisement • Prior results do not guarantee a similar outcome • Models used are not clients but may be representative of clients • 321 N. Clark Street, Suite 2800, Chicago, IL 60654 • 312.832.4500

08 0013

Overview of Open Questions

- CMS Coordination with OIG and DOJ
- Intra-CMS Roles and Coordination
- Waiver of Attorney-Client Privilege
- Concerns Regarding Benefits Conferred by SRDP
- Publication of Information Regarding Settlements
- Effect on Stark Advisory Opinion Process

©2010 Foley & Lardner LLP

08.0013

CMS Coordination with OIG and DOJ

- Review prior to acceptance. Similar to OIG's?
- In what situations will a provider be rejected? Who has ultimate decision?
- Referral for prosecution.
- CMS has stated that it will still presumably resolve matters independently under its own administrative authorities.
- Coordination on monetary resolution and obtaining releases.

©2010 Foley & Lardner LLP

08.0013

Intra-CMS Roles and Coordination

- Sufficiency of resources
  - Both number and experience of personnel
- Center for Medicare Management
  - Intake and administrative review
  - Policy and legal analysis
- Center for Program Integrity
  - Coordination with law enforcement
  - Weigh in on administrative review
- Office of Financial Management
  - Will evaluate factors to determine whether compromise in monetary resolution is appropriate

©2010 Foley & Lardner LLP

08.0013

Waiver of Attorney-Client Privilege

- Access to all supporting documents without assertion of privileges.
- In “normal course of verification,” CMS will not require waiver of attorney-client privilege.
- CMS believes attorney work product may be “critical” to resolving disclosure.
- Open to discussions on how to avoid waiver.

©2010 Foley & Lardner LLP

08.0013

Waiver of Attorney-Client Privilege (cont.)

- Waiver not absolute requirement.
- BUT may affect evaluation of extent of cooperation and by extension, evaluation of whether any reduction in overpayment is justified.

©2010 Foley & Lardner LLP

08.0013

Concerns Regarding Benefits Conferred by SRDP

- Inconsistent messages regarding whether overpayments will be compromised.
- Lack of any comfort regarding potential range of compromise.
- Subject to much internal debate at CMS regarding potential ranges.
- Concern regarding delegation to OFM.

©2010 Foley & Lardner LLP

08.0013

Concerns Regarding Benefits Conferred by SRDP (cont.)

- Who evaluates litigation risk factor and how will that factor be applied?
- Exclusion of consideration of benefit to physician as consideration.
- CMS direction to estimate if cannot analyze referral revenue.

©2010 Foley & Lardner LLP

08 0013

Publication of Information Regarding Settlements

- Approximately 20 disclosures already in pipeline.
- CMS has made no commitment to disclose any information about settlements.
  - In contrast, OIG provides summaries on its website of each OIG Provider Self Disclosure Protocol settlement.
- Unclear how much detail CMS will include in its report to Congress, which is not due until mid-way through FY 2012.
- Lack of transparency on CMS's part could diminish interest in SRDP.

©2010 Foley & Lardner LLP

08 0013

Coordination with Stark Advisory Opinion Process

- CMS has stated that providers cannot both disclose and seek an advisory opinion (statutory requirement).
- Creates another layer of decisionmaking for provider facing potential Stark Violation.
  - Will decision to seek advisory opinion be viewed as circumvention?
  - Will decision to seek advisory opinion be viewed unfavorably if CMS later determines violation and 60-day clock is not tolled?

©2010 Foley & Lardner LLP

08.0013

Coordination with Stark Advisory Opinion Process (cont.)

- Relative paucity of Advisory Opinions highlights resource issue for CMS.
  - CMS has issued 7 between 1998 and present (with last more than 2 years ago).
  - OIG has issued 21 in this calendar year alone.
