Jacob Davis is an associate at Foley & Lardner LLP. Jacob is based in the Dallas office, where he is a member of the firm's Taxation Practice Group.

Jacob's practice covers general corporate and tax law, including the business and tax consequences of the formation, ownership, operation, sale, purchase, merger, and reorganization of C Corporations, S Corporations, Partnerships, and Limited Liability Companies. He also dedicates pro bono time to assisting tax-exempt organizations with any federal or state tax issues they may have.

Prior to joining Foley, Jacob worked as a judicial intern for Judge Matthew Solomson of the United States Court of Federal Claims and as a judicial intern for Judge Christian Weiler of the United States Tax Court.
