The American College of Environmental Lawyers Announces Newly Elected Fellows for 2014

The American College of Environmental Lawyers is proud to announce its newly elected Fellows for the year 2014. Each individual was selected for his/her distinguished experience and high standards in the practice of environmental law and will be officially inducted into the College at its Annual Meeting in October.

ACOEL President, Seth Jaffe of Foley Hoag, stated, "The twenty-five lawyers elected to the College this year again include top environmental lawyers in government service, academia, the NGO community and private practice. These individuals, chosen by their peers, have earned this recognition based on achievements over a minimum 15 year period. Their presence highlights the strength of our profession and enhances the ACOEL's ability to further its mission. The College is honored to have this distinguished class join its ranks."
