Andrea Cunha has a broad array of experience guiding high-growth companies from early stage to exit. She provides strategic counsel on critical issues such as corporate structure, governance, capital raising, mergers and acquisitions, and various commercial matters.

Andrea's practice includes advising on health care transactions and regulatory compliance for a diverse client base, including health care technology companies, medical device manufacturers, durable medical equipment providers, physician and dental practices, hospitals, home health and hospice agencies, laboratories, telemedicine providers, skilled nursing and long-term care facilities, and other ancillary health care providers. As a seasoned restructuring lawyer, Andrea assists clients in purchasing or selling distressed assets through out-of-court workouts and formal bankruptcy proceedings.

Andrea also acts as outside general counsel to clients and collaborates with legal teams across different practice areas, both domestically and internationally. Her unique blend of experience in corporate restructuring, commercial litigation, and in-house counsel roles for a regional health care system and a technology startup equips her to address the multifaceted challenges that high-growth companies encounter daily and develop innovative solutions.
