Andrew Gresik represents clients in both state and federal courts across the country in a variety of consumer protection, fraud, and products liability disputes. Andrew has extensive experience litigating claims under the Fair Credit Reporting Act (FCRA), California's Investigative Consumer Reporting Agencies Act (ICRAA) and Consumer Credit Reporting Agencies Act (CCRAA), Telephone Consumer Protection Act (TCPA), Wisconsin's Timeshare Act, and other federal and state unfair trade practice and consumer protection laws. Andrew regularly handles complex commercial and class action matters on behalf of consumer reporting agencies, financial institutions, and manufacturers of consumer products, among other clients.

During law school, Andrew was a summer associate at Foley and interned in the office of the Wisconsin Solicitor General. He also served as a judicial intern to the Honorable Daniel Kelly of the Supreme Court of Wisconsin.
