Alexandra “Alex” Jashinsky provides an efficient and real-world approach to counseling on a broad range of real estate transactions. Clients turn to Alex for her extensive experience in all aspects of the development cycle, including acquisitions, development agreements, condominium regimes, master covenants, construction financing, and joint ventures.

Alex also represents landlords and tenants in complex lease negotiations. Alex has a unique background in structuring and negotiating leases and other real estate transactions within the healthcare industry and helps clients navigate the complexities of healthcare regulations that impact those transactions. She has experience negotiating development deals for the ground-up construction of hospitals, medical office buildings, ambulatory surgery centers, inpatient rehabilitation facilities, and senior housing developments.
