Hillary Leffue represents foreign and domestic clients across multiple industries in legal disputes and arbitral matters ranging from breach of contract, consumer protection, fraud claims, and more. She has experience defending clients in government investigations and enforcement actions, including those involving the False Claims Act (FCA), the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act (FCPA), and other state enforcement acts. Hillary also conducts risk assessments and helps companies build strong compliance programs that help avoid enforcement actions in the first place. She advocates for foreign and domestic companies before the Committee on Foreign Investment in the United States (CFIUS).
