John J. Wolfel, Jr. counsels business clients on securities matters, acquisitions, financings, corporate governance matters, and regulatory matters involving the Securities and Exchange Commission or public stock exchanges. He is a partner in the firm's Transactions Practice as well as the REIT area of focus and the Cannabis Industry team.

John has worked on numerous public and private securities offerings, including IPOs, registered direct offerings, traditional follow-on offerings, private placements, and PIPEs. He also represents many companies with their periodic reporting obligations and other matters before the Securities and Exchange Commission.

John has handled a variety of business combinations for both public and private companies as well as the representation of special committees in connection with transactions. He represents several publicly traded companies that are listed on the NYSE, Nasdaq, and OTCQX stock exchanges, including REITs and companies in the cannabis space.

Prior to joining Foley, John interned at the United States Attorney's Office for the Middle District of Florida.
