Callie Ericksen works in our Business Law department as a member of the firm's Transactions Practice Group and is based in the San Francisco office. Prior to joining Foley, Callie held legal internships with the University of California Office of the President and UC Davis Intercollegiate Athletics, where she drafted memoranda on a range of topics including land use, tort liability, and NCAA NIL legislation. She also served as a research editor for the Social Justice Law Review and the UC Davis Law Review.

Callie began at Foley as a summer associate in 2024. Her work focused on drafting corporate documents and conducting legal research for mergers, acquisitions, and venture capital matters.

Before law school, Callie was an AmeriCorps VIP Fellow at LightHouse for the Blind and Visually Impaired, where she led volunteer engagement and advocacy efforts. She also competed as a Division I student-athlete at Rice University, serving as a two-year team captain and student-athlete advisory committee representative.
