

Savannah L. Levin

Associate

slevin@foley.com

Los Angeles
213.972.4601

Savannah Levin is a Commercial Litigation associate in the firm's Los Angeles office.

Prior to joining Foley, Savannah worked as a law clerk for two other law firms. There, she was responsible for conducting research and writing memoranda regarding client conflicts and negligent supervision. Additionally, Savannah externed for Superior Court of Orange County Judge Deborah C. Servino where she prepared weekly memoranda in anticipation of the week's Law and Motion calendar.

Savannah began her career with Foley as a summer associate.

Accolades and Recognition

- Law.com, finalist for Most Prominent Newcomer (2025)

Sectors

- Sports & Entertainment

Practice Areas

- Commercial Litigation
- Litigation
- State Attorneys General

Education

- University of California, Irvine School of Law (J.D., 2022)
 - Certified law student, UCI Intellectual Property, Arts, and Technology Clinic
 - Jewish Law Association, Programming Officer
 - OC Lawyer Magazine, Student Extern
- University of Southern California (B.A., cum laude, 2017)

- Stevens Scholar Award
- David X. Marks Scholar-Athlete Award
- Pac-12 All-Academic Honorable Mention

Admissions

- California