You'll also gain professional experience and personal satisfaction beginning the first day you walk through the door.

THE PATH & THE PRACTICE PODCAST

For a candid glimpse into the lives of Foley attorneys, make sure to listen to our podcast, The Path & The Practice. Each episode features Alexis Robertson, Foley's Director of Diversity & Inclusion, in a one-on-one conversation with a new attorney guest exploring their unique background, path to law school, and path to Foley. You'll hear the touching personal stories you won't find on the typical attorney bio. The Path & The Practice podcast is available on all major podcast platforms and can be streamed on our Foley Career Perspectives Blog. Enjoy a few excerpts below.

"I've found in this profession that surrounding yourself with a good network of mentors is super important. Having champions – people in your corner – is critical, especially for people of color and other minority groups. You never know when you're going to need support, or when you're going to have the opportunity to support others."

Kaleb Berhe

"You're able to take on the work but also have the flexibility that you need. Like when daycare calls and says my daughter has to go home, and I have a call in 10 minutes. The supporting team I have has enabled me to stay and thrive here."

Senayt Rahwa

Washington, D.C.

"I became obsessed with moot court in law school. Foley has provided the platform for me to do depositions and go to trial, as well as to be more vocal about being LGBTQ. And I've loved being a part of the firm's LGBTQ Affinity Group."

Katie Harrington
Litigation | Senior Counsel
